MAKES DIAMONDS OF GAS

Announcement of Latest Find in Alchemy Comes From Berlin.

Berlin, November 21.—A new method of making diamonds has just been discovered by Dr. Werner von Bolten, a chemical expert connected with the siemens-Haiske laboratory here.

The process is based on the decomposition of lighting gas by a mercury amalgum, whereby the carbon contained in the gas is crystallized into diamonds. As these diamonds are extremely minute, small bits of diamond dust are introduced into the apparatus, where they serve as mother crystals, upon which larger diamonds are gradually built up.

The process is still in the experimental stage, and the diamonds are small, but it is hoped that Dr. von Bolten's discovery may result in the solution of the problem of manufacturing diamonds by artificial means.
